

Meet CUC's Budding Artists

Dawn Grime Meyers

DAWN GRIME MYERS has been employed at the CUC Student Health Services for the last two years.

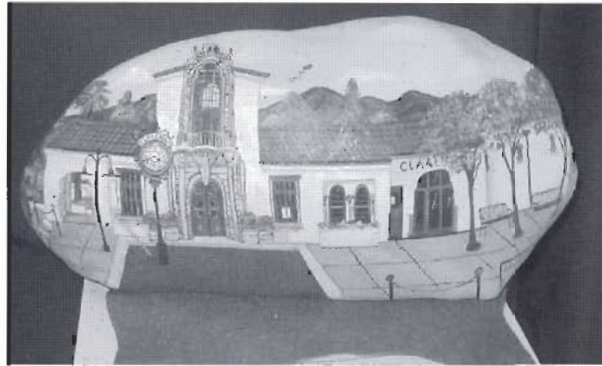

Dawn holds a BFA from UCLA School of Design with a minor in film. One of her professors recognized a natural ability for architectural design and recommended she consider a career in that field. However, her artistic journey led her to clothes and jewelry design in addition to creating a line of multi-cultural dolls which were later sold through Nordstrom.

"When I originally spotted a stone that reminded me of a building I went with my "gut" and started painting on it! Since then I have been requested to paint many buildings, including a courthouse, a Chino dairy, the 18th hole at a country club and a family farm in Kansas."

Dawn was fortunate enough to be the featured artist in a month-long show during the month of February 2003 at the Claremont Chamber of Commerce. The show was sponsored by the Claremont Community Foundation.

"I plan on continuing this wonderful journey. There is no end to the places I want to paint and I meet the nicest people along the way!"

LEO EVANS, network analyst in Physical painting from now until the next millennium."

DORIS STAHLY, one of our switchboard operators, is also a talented crafter of porcelain dolls. "I have been interested in doll making for many years and inquired about it a long time ago. I've been making dolls for the past eight years and am now working on making porcelain doll faces which I put in toy stuffed bears and bunnies," Doris says.

Doris was recognized with five awards for her outstanding creations when she entered, for the first time, the California Ceramics, Dolls and Craft Guild Show at the Fairplex in Pomona. Awards Doris won include; High First Place, Center Ring for "Bright Eyes," High First Place for "Fantasy," and second place standings for "Sugar Britches," "Tulip," and "Violet," in their respective categories.

"Hopefully I will have a few more of my dolls, bears, and bunnies ready to enter in the October show this year," Doris says. "It's a fun and rewarding hobby which I

Leo Evans

art at Manual Arts High School and college at Los Angeles City College.

"Inspirationalism art is what I do today. Out of the 300 paintings I have completed over the last 20 years, 99% of them were inspired by my belief in God, life experiences and my travels throughout this great country of ours."

Leo enjoys retailing his art on the Web and has also displayed his paintings at several shows. He graciously donated the work, "Seven Souls Return to Heaven," to CUC to memorialize the recent NASA Columbia shut-enjoy very much."

Doris Stahly

